Answer the following in the best way you are able to in complete sentences and with detail.

1. What was your favorite part of the year? Why?

---

---

---

---

---

2. Which story stuck with you this year? Why?

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

3. Share one service activity you have participated in and your reflections of it. It could be something you did as part of your class or at school.

---

4. Swami says “Life is a challenge, meet it!” What is a personal challenge you have been able to overcome this year? How did you do this?

5. Swami says, “See no evil, see what is good. Hear no evil, hear what is good. Talk no evil, talk what is good. Think no evil, think what is good. Do no evil, do what is good.” Why is this important in one’s life? Think about strategies one can use to make sure there us both purity and unity of thought, word, and deed.

7. How would you like to be a contributing member of the Center and home next year? Set one goal and steps you can take to achieve it.

Note to gurus: This handout gives all 32 of Swami's Maxims—the graphics found throughout each of the Syllabus books—here in one place. For Groups 1 & 2, print these pages (black & white is fine too), cut out the specific ones relating to the lesson you are teaching, and give to each of the children to stick in their notebooks. For Groups 3 & 4, instead of printing and giving, show them the graphic and ask them to draw it into their notebooks. It is a good opportunity to allow them to pause their minds from thinking and discussing, and shift into a different gear for a few minutes. Show all children Swami's signature in the bottom right corner—it is how He signs His letters and is His handwriting.
