Answer the following in the best way you are able to. Restate the question when you answer. Then answer in complete sentences.

1. What was your favorite part of the year? Why?

2. Which story did you like the best this year? Why?

3. What is one good habit you worked on this year?

4. Were you able to do it everyday? If yes, how does it feel? If not, what are you struggling with?

5. What is prayer? Explain in your own words.

6. Do you pray everyday? If so, what do you pray for?

7. How do you show your love to your parents everyday? Explain. You may give an example also.

8. Name one lesson you learned from Swami's life?

9. What is the name of the program you attend?

10. Have you helped anyone at home and at school this year? Tell us how.

Home: _____

School: _____

11. Draw your favorite memory from this year. Label your picture.

Swami's Maxims

In each lesson, there are pink & yellow graphics of Swami's Maxims. These Maxims are encapsulated teachings that Swami repeats in multiple discourses, and our children need to know them.

These Maxims go with the lessons in the Syllabus. When you teach a lesson, give the relevant Maxim to the children for their notebooks. Over the course of the year, you are helping the children build a comprehensive collection of Swami's Maxims—available right at their fingertips!

For Groups 1 & 2, print the specific page with the Maxim that relates to the lesson you are teaching. Cut and give one to each child to stick in their notebooks during class every week.

For Groups 3 & 4, you can print and give, or another idea is to show them the graphic and ask them to draw it in their notebooks (it is a good opportunity to allow them to pause their minds from thinking and discussing in class, and shift into a different gear for a few minutes).

This should also be done every week during class.

Show children Swami's signature in the bottom right corner—it is how He signs His letters and is His handwriting.
